Description

Small-sized energy consumption and photovoltaic production meter that can be installed in microspaces. Remotely monitor the energy consumption of utilities, production lines, and the energy production of photovoltaic systems. Thanks to MQTT Wi-Fi connectivity, MEM01W can easily be configured and controlled remotely via the Contact Pro cloud platform (license sold separately).
The real-time view of the measured data will help make informed decisions to make the industrial environment more energy efficient.

Monitoring the energy production of photovoltaic systems allows you to maximize the performance of your solar energy system.
